Margie draws on her diverse background in business, psychology and coaching to get to the heart of what holds people back from enjoying more success in their work and greater fulfilment in their lives.

Recognised internationally as a thought leader in human potential, Margie's personal and professional development programs engage, educate and empower. She has established a strong track record in providing practical strategies to help individuals and corporations adapt better to change, seize the opportunity it holds, and create better results in business, leadership and life.

A certified master coach, Margie's sharp insights are sought by leading media internationally - including the Today Show, CNN and CNBC. Her down-to-earth advice and expertise has also seen her become a regular news commentator on Australia's Sunrise and ABC News Breakfast. She has also been a guest lecturer at America's leading academic institutions such as Georgetown University and SMU.

Margie has walked her talk when it comes to living bravely and building resilience. Her message of courage – and it's imperative to rethink risk and challenge self-limiting 'stories' - stems from the many challenges and personal adversities she's faced in her life. Since growing up on a dairy farm in rural Australia, she has travelled extensively, venturing off the beaten track in over 60 countries through the Middle East, South America, Africa and Asia and relocated around the world several times with her husband and four children. She worked for three years in Papua New Guinea and over a decade in the USA, moving back to Australia in 2012. She is also an Ambassador for 'Beyond Blue', strongly committed to reducing the stigma surrounding mental illness.

"Margie left the leaders at our national conference re-energised, refocused and emboldened to build a bigger and better business."

Bestselling author

Margie's bestselling books 'Stop Playing Safe' (Wiley) and 'Find Your Courage' (McGraw-Hill) are now published in 6 languages. She has also co-authored two other books with Stephen Covey, John Gray, Ken Blanchard and Jack Canfield. Her fifth book, 'Brave: 50 Everyday Acts of Courage to Thrive In Work, Love & Life', will be released in April 2015 with Wiley.

Margie is the founding CEO of Global Courage, a women's leadership organisation.

Margie holds a special passion for empowering women and is an advocate for gender equality and closing the gender gap that prevails within many organisations.

Margie has supported hundreds of women globally, in many spheres, to become more influential leaders and powerful catalysts for change in their own lives, community, workplace and society.

Executive Leadership Coaching and Team Performance Programs

Margie has extensive experience coaching, facilitating and mentoring leaders, teams and groups within organisations. She provides customised programs that measurably improve engagement, empower leadership, foster collaboration, encourage innovation, improve accountability, and cultivate a 'culture of courage' for sustained performance and bottom line results.

"Margie sets herself apart with a powerful message paired with disarming delivery. Her insights helped me bolster my personal vision for a candid, collaborative and forward leaning workplace. Feedback was overwhelmingly positive. The UN Foundation welcomes Margie back anytime."

Kathy Calvin, President & CEO United Nations Foundation

Popular Programs

Stop Playing Safe!

Based on the latest neuroscience learn how to assess risk more accurately to take the smart risks needed to get ahead in an increasingly cautious world.

Leadership Courage

Learn how to cultivate a "Culture of Courage" where people feel safe to innovate & challenge outdated thinking. Harness the core leadership skills to grow engagement, build bravery, and unleash the full potential in others.

Courageous Conversations

The most important conversations are often the most difficult. Discover how to speak up about sensitive issues in ways that build trust, improve accountability, expand influence and create more collaborative and rewarding relationships.

The Resilience Advantage

Drawing from positive psychology, Margie weaves personal stories of tragedy and adversity with practical strategies to ward off the anxiety that comes from uncertainty, find opportunity during change, bounce back from setbacks, fail forward and thrive under pressure.

Leading Women

Drawing on her experiences as a working mother of four who has coached senior women leaders globally, this powerful program provides practical ways women (and men) can work to leverage feminine leadership strengths, grow influence at all levels, close the gender gap and improve bottom line outcomes.
